Card Reader

Keeping your money safe online

What is the Card Reader?

The Card Reader is a security device that works in conjunction with your First Trust Bank Visa Debit card and PIN to generate unique security codes which are used to complete certain activities on Online Services.

How does it work?

Card Reader security uses something you have (your First Trust Bank Visa Debit card) and something only you know (your Visa Debit card PIN) to generate a unique eight-digit code which allows you to authorise certain activities on Online Services.

Why do I need it?

Fraudsters are becoming more sophisticated in attempting to get access to customer's Online Services details. Security experts recommend Card Readers that use your debit card and PIN as one of the best ways to protect you.

As the Card Reader does not hold any secure information it is not unique and can be shared if required.

What do the Function Keys mean?

When completing certain activities you will be prompted to use one of the function keys above.

Using your Card Reader

1. Insert your Visa Debit card into the Card Reader.
2. Select the function you need. You will be clearly prompted to do this on Online Services or over the phone if you are speaking with a Customer Service Adviser.
3. Enter your 4 digit PIN into the Card Reader. This is the PIN you enter at a cash machine, or in a shop, when you use your Visa Debit card.
4. Follow the online/spoken prompts.
5. If asked for an account reference, enter the last 8 numeric digits of the receiver's account number.
6. A unique security code will be generated and displayed on the Card Reader.
